Communicating With Awareness What Horses Teach Us About People

A powerful and interactive Equine Assisted Learning experience designed to help you develop greater awareness, connection, and communication effectiveness through hands-on activities with horses and the power of understanding your unique design and wiring.

No horse experience is necessary.

Our communication impacts our relationships, leadership, teamwork and connection with others, yet we often don't realize how others experience us.

Adapted from John C. Maxwell Develop The Leaders Around You

Assess the attributes, skills, and qualities you believe you currently possess, not those you think you should have. An honest reflection of your leadership provides the foundation for meaningful growth and development. awareness.
